

1-2. (W5:1. Sp 6:11) The suffixes ate, ify, en, ize, or ise, can be added to some nouns to turn them into verbs. There may be a slight change of spelling to the root word (pollen-pollinate) or the final letter might need to be dropped before adding the suffix (note-notify).

medic	ate	ize	terror	ize	ate
--------------	-------------------	------------	---------------	-------------------	------------

3. (W5:2. Sp 5:14) Silent 'c' often follows 's' and 'sc' often goes before 'e' or 'i' (scissors, scene)

4. (W5:2. Sp 5:17) Silent 't' is often in the letter string 'stle' (whistle, thistle, castle)

scissors	brush	whistle	drum
------------------------	--------------	-----------------------	-------------

5-6. (W5:3. 5:19) Homophones are words that sound the same but have different meanings and different spellings.

The climber started the (*assent / ascent).

I can (devise / device*) a way to solve it.

7. (W5:4) Check the definition with that in the dictionary available.

mettle	Courage or strength of character.

8-9. (W5:5) To put in alphabetical order you may need to use the first, second, third or even fourth letter of the word.

stripe	3	strong	4	shop	2	shape	1
---------------	----------	---------------	----------	-------------	----------	--------------	----------

10-11. (W5:11) Using a wider range of connectives can help build cohesion within and across paragraphs.

unexpectedly	unless	plus	some	moreover
---------------------	---------------	--------------------	-------------	------------------------

12-13. (W5:12) Using a wider range of sentence openers, propositional phrases and fronted adverbials help organise and structure texts so they guide the reader and are suited to the intended audience and purpose.

Undoubtedly,	In the morning,	Afterwards,	More importantly,
----------------------------	------------------------	--------------------	---------------------------------

14-15. (W5:15) A verb tense tells us when the action takes place: the past (I ran), present (I run) or future (I will run). They should remain consistent throughout a piece of writing unless there is a good reason to change it.

The baby (began / begun) to cry.	The leaves (blown / blew) across the lawn.

16-17. (W5:16) If two or more singular nouns or pronouns are connect by 'and', use a plural verb. If connected by 'or', use the singular verb. Singular subjects (I, he) and singular nouns (committee, class) usually have singular verbs. Plural subjects usually need plural verbs.

Bob and Dan (was / were) best friends.	Neither Mum nor Dad (were / was) right.

18-19. (W5:18) Verbs in the perfect form show an action completed in the past at an unspecified time. They use 'have' (present perfect), 'had' (past perfect), 'will have' (future perfect) before a past participle of the verb. Simple past has a specific time.

The lion (bit / bitten) the keeper.	The keeper was (bit / bitten) by the lion.

20-21. (W5:19) Expanded noun phrases add information (adjectives) to nouns (either before or after the noun). They can be an efficient way to make writing more interesting and create imagery. Words that add nothing new or are synonymous are repetitive and redundant.

The (ugly/hideous) witch held up the (crimson/red/rosy) apple, trying to tempt her.

22. (W5:20) Modal verbs indicate likelihood (must), ability (can), permission (may) or obligation. They include the verbs can, could, may, might, should, shall, would, will, must (and their negative forms). They go before other verbs.

Perhaps I (may / would / should) wait until Dad gets home.

23. (W5:21) A relative clause adds more information about the noun in the main clause. They normally come after the noun and start with the words who, which, where, when, whose or that. They start and end with a comma. They turn simple sentences into complex sentences.

The man, who robbed the bank, was arrested last night.

24. (W5:22) A main function of the comma is to avoid ambiguity (confusion) in sentences. They can help make the meaning clear.

His shoes, covered in mud, were on the new carpet.

25. (W5:23) Parenthesis is a word or phrase inserted into a sentence to give extra information, explanation, clarification or afterthought. Brackets enclose it to show that it is separate from the rest of the sentence. Commas or dashes can also be used to show parenthesis.

He finally said (after taking time to think) that he didn't understand.
